

When you use someone else's work, you must give them credit. Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work as your own. Remember:

- › Cite where you found all ideas, words, images, code, etc.
- › If you paraphrase or summarize an idea, you still have to cite it
- › Take detailed notes or photos to accurately track your sources

Have questions? Ask your instructors!

work. study. play. with integrity.

academicintegrity.uwaterloo.ca